SENATE DELAYS CONFIRMATION OF RAIL LABOR BOARD

LONG DISCUSSION HELD ON MEMBERS APPOINTED BY WILSON.

INVOLVE SHOPMEN

Palmer Makes Public Alleged I. W. W. Appeals to Workers.

Washington, April 15.—There was another long discussion in the senate today as to confirm the newly appointed members of the railroad labor board. The session was executive and after the discussion had continued for more than an hour it seemed to be some doubt as to whether confirmation would be had today.

Members Are Assembling.

Meantime members of the board were assembling in Washington in response to the call issued yesterday by President Wilson. The members include H. C. Elliott and Horace Baker, two of the three railroad representatives. They called at the White House and were referred to Mr. Hines, head of the railroad administration. It is understood that the board will sit at the railroad administration after its organization.

Baker Confers With Palmer.

Secretary Baker had a brief conference with Attorney General Palmer today but department of justice officials said the railroad strike was not discussed.

The department of justice today made public more documents seized from I. W. W. agitators and copies of appeals by that organization to the shopmen to "throw down the labor politicians" who, the appeal said, are now heading the labor unions.

Appeals to Shopmen Directly.—One of the documents said: "The guardmen and the road workers have blazed the trail and we must now open our eyes and see the truth. We, the shopmen, are dancing with the same skeletons of salvation that is awaiting the transportation men. Now is the time for all of us to join the fight. Never before have we had the opportunity to gain our ends, that now faces us."

SONORA PREPARES TO MEET ATTACK BY CARRANZA FORCES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico, April 15.—Martial law was proclaimed in Agua Prieta today in preparation for a possible attack by Carranza forces and the Mexican president's troops break through the barrier of soldiers, the new republic has stationed between here and the Chihuahua-Sonora boundary.

General Pino, commander of the first division of the Sonora army, was expected to arrive here at noon from Mazatlan to complete arrangements for the defense of the territory endangered by the Carranza expedition.

ALLIES CONSIDER PAY FOR SCAPA FLOW LOSS

Paris, April 15.—The council of ambassadors today reached an agreement on naval expenses concerning the Great Britain dock tonnage to be handed over in compensation for the scuttling of the German fleet at Scapa Flow. It developed that total of 192,000 tons of this material had been discovered by the transmission. A basis for the distribution among the allies was adopted.

The reply of the Hungarian peace delegation with regard to the peace terms submitted by the allies to Hungary was considered but discuss was not completed.

The council has decided to ask for a report from the international commission appointed to supervise the fixing of the boundary between East Prussia and Poland in the Marienwerder district before deciding on the date of the plebiscite to be held in that district.

Danger of Strike of Miners in England Over

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, April 15.—The members of the miners' federation by a majority of 1,000 voted yesterday to accept the government's offer of a 20 percent increase in gross earnings. The decision of the men obviates the need of a general strike.

The government's offer provides for a minimum flat advance of two shillings a week for miners over 18 years of age, a half shilling a week for miners between 16 and 18 years, and nine pence for workers under 16 years.

A JANESEVILLE MAN IS ON COMMITTEE

John McLay Represents Horse Breeders for Junior Livestock Exposition in October.

John McLay of Janesville has been officially appointed as a representative of the horse breeders on the committee of 26 which will have charge of the Wisconsin Junior Livestock Exposition to be held in Madison in October.

Mr. McLay has already received notice of his appointment from J. A. Wood, president of the Wisconsin Horse Breeders' Association, and will soon initiate a campaign to enlist the interest and support of the horse breeder in the state in this important state-wide movement to interest the young people of Wisconsin in livestock husbandry and permanent agriculture.

Get Colts for Boys

As chairman of the horse committee Mr. McLay expects to work with county agricultural leaders, and horse breeders throughout the state. Projects will be made to secure for boys desiring to enter the competition colts of the types which will grow into strong first prize contenders.

No activity of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association surpasses in importance the work it is doing to interest young people in the industry to which the state is pre-eminently adapted. Encouraged by the success of its baby beef shows, and while developing interest among boys and girls in other lines of live stock production the Association last year organized and conducted the first exclusively boys and girls live stock show ever held in America.

Boys and Girls Interested

Anderson W. Hontzins, secretary of the association, reports that at this Junior Live Stock Exposition 135 boys and girls, from 25 different counties, exhibited baby beef, veal, dairy calves, colts, lambs and pigs. And the grand champion baby beef in the Wisconsin contest later stood second to the grand champion at the International Live Stock Exposition.

"More and more the people of the state are coming to realize that the future of our country lies in the commonwealth state, very largely upon the development of the great industry to which it is pre-eminently adapted," he declares Secretary Hopkins. In his annual report to the members of his association, W. H. Hontzins, farmers appreciate that in a remarkable degree, the live stock husbandry is a mainstay of a permanent agriculture. And they appreciate that their branch of the farming industry will function even more pronouncedly in the future development of the state.

State of Stock Farms

"Wisconsin long since outranked the reputation of being a granary and instead has been known for several decades as a state of farm owning people—a country thickly dotted with stock farms, stock yards, creameries, cheese factories and milk reducing plants to which the consuming population of this country and even the world may come for animal products." Wisconsin is devoting itself to the improvement of an industry which makes for permanence and profit instead of contributing to soil depletion, tenancy, and temporary farming.

Livestock production in Wisconsin last year, according to estimates furnished by the Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service, amounted to $71,771,000. This is an increase of about 16 percent over 1918 and of almost unbelievable growth over the past ten year period. It would be worth while to examine carefully the increases in nearly every branch of live stock production reported on in Wisconsin, but the most gratifying of all the enumeration would be the totals showing the increase in the number of men having an appreciation for the value of breed-for-production animals.

Influences on Breeding

"It has been this appreciation which has led the stock breeders of Wisconsin to take movement after movement which has had pronounced influence upon the farming practices of the state and which has provided a model after model of effort for the stockmen of the nation.

"One of the factors which has brought the greatest the position of leadership, which it now occupies, is its team work. It has been found, by those unbiased by state or local pride, that there is not a commonwealth in the union in which there is better teaming of the agricultural forces.

Given Cooperation

The officers of this association have endeavored to appreciate the thorough-going cooperation which they have had from every possible organization or institution, including the breed organizations, state and national as well as local educational institutions; tuning from the district schools, from the press, commercial organizations and every other group interested in the development of Wisconsin's greatest natural resource."

Where is Your McKee?

If the cop says "Stop!" it may be too late to wish you had obeyed the law. Your headlights must not throw a single blinding ray of light above 60 inches from the ground. The fact that you thought your lights were O. K. is no excuse. It's up to you to be sure.

The scientifically designed prisms give 63% more light than a plain window glass lens and project this light below the 60-inch deadline, 600 feet ahead of the car. The concave-convex shape gives a very strong side light that illuminates ditches, banks and beyond curves.

Why risk your life and those of others with makeshift devices that weaken the light in order to comply with the law? For safety's sake use the McKee—the lens that combines an intense road beam with an adequate side-light.

Now is the time to equip your car with the McKee Lens—the lens that protects you from the law and prevents accidents.

RETAILERS BOOST FOR BETTER CITY

Meet at Grand Hotel Tonight
To Discuss Baseball, Bandstand and Other Civic Matters.

A number of important civic matters will be up for consideration at a supper for members of the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce at the Grand hotel at 6 o'clock this evening. Building of a bandstand, weekly band concerts, free hitching privileges for farmers, and the "Forward" and "Hill" publications are among the most important subjects to be discussed.

One of the features of the meeting will be a talk by George Perring, manager of the Samson baseball team, who will discuss the manner in which it is proposed to dispose of tickets to games this year.

The matter of building a new handstand has been hanging fire for more than a year. What action will be taken tonight is a matter of conjecture.

The need of additional hitching facilities without cost to farmers is a matter that has been discussed informally by retailers for several months. It is hoped some remedy will be found for the situation when the question comes up tonight.

R. C. Wartner, general manager of retail merchant bureau, and acting manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has arranged the meeting.

4-MINUTE SPEAKERS FOR BAPTIST DRIVE

J. T. Fitchett, this city, has been appointed chairman of a group of four-minute speakers who will aid Jamesville Baptists in raising their quota of the northern Baptists $100,000,000 new world movement fund.

The work of collecting the huge sum from the Baptists of the Northern states has been organized down to the smallest church. It will start April 25 and continue through May 2. The money will be spent in the Baptists' new world movement which has for its purpose the erection, improvement, equipment of scores of new colleges, missions, hospitals, churches, relief stations, and welfare funds. Wisconsin's quota is $1,540,000.

AUTO IN SIDEWALK DASH; NO DAMAGE

Milwaukee street pedestrians last night witnessed a short sidewalk tour of a car driven by Stanley Yost, Samson worker. Planning to back out of his parking space, he slipped to the curb, but thought it was a curve. It stood. It was first speed. The machine climbed the curbing near Hockett's cigar store and ran several yards on the sidewalk before being stopped. There was no damage. Upon questioning at the police station, he was released with a warning to be more careful in the future.

SENIORS SIGN TO ATTEND UNIVERSITY

High school seniors who intend to go to Wisconsin university next year filled out blanks after a talk by President Basford yesterday. This was done because of the large number of students who sign up late and are turned away. Prin. F. J. Lowth, or the training school talked to girls who intend to take up teaching.

FRATERNAL ORDER TO INITIATE 100

Local officers will be appointed at the meeting.

TIME TO GO FISHING.

It's time to go fishing again! The blue's in the sky and the breeze is calling the city-worn men to come to the lakes and the seas. There are dreams to be dreamed in a day. There are wonderful pictures to see. It is time to be up and away. To the haunts where the soul can go free.

Life cannot be lived in one place. Not in toil can man's story be told. Hard grow the lines in his face. Who thinks but of silver and gold; There are beauties of nature to love, And joys for the joyous to claim, And the chorus of birds from above Is as sweet as the whisper of fame.

The body needs rest from the grind, The soul needs its moments of peace, The tired and trouble-worn mind Needs respite and rest and release; And each in his turn must put down His duty and burden of care, Must turn for a time from the town And find true contentment somewhere.

It's time, almost time to depart From the heat and the turmoil of strife, The struggle for place and its smart, And gather the gladness of life; Though each one must follow his choice In forsaking the struggles of men Soul and body, once more I rejoice That it's time to go fishing again!

This day in 1817 the first school for the deaf was established in the United States and opened at Hartford, Conn.

ONE LAP AHEAD OF JANESEVILLE.

Beloit is one lap ahead of Janesville on the playground race. The council of that city has authorized the purchase for $10,540 of some blocks of ground for the purpose. There is to be a wading pool, a race track, a pavilion containing comfort stations and much play apparatus. A competent instructor and playground keeper will be employed. Then, too, there is to be another lot wherein the children will be allowed to play ball.

This is one of the needs of Janesville. The boys and girls are here; there will be more of them. In Wednesday's Gazette the Voice of the People carried an article by "Citizen," who advocated a method of raising funds for the support of playgrounds. It is worth the careful attention of the council. We again submit that a start should be made with Goose Island as a park, and vacant lots for playing ball.

SOFT BUTTER FOR THE RADICALS.

One of the reasons why the I. W. W. has had the temerity to issue a circular to railroad workers calling on them to get into "One Big Union," and to say to them that this "is the golden opportunity for which you have been looking," is because the department of justice and the department of labor at Washington have been working at cross purposes. Connected with the department of labor is Louis Post, noted as a pacifist and a writer on parlor Bolshevik topics, who has had the final judgment in the deportation of the radical revolutionists. On his recommendation most of them have been or will be freed. So the other revolutionists in the I. W. W. camp, as long as Post is in charge of their destinies, have no fear of the future.

HERE'S A JOB FOR THE ASSESSOR.

Janesville seems to have a place for the active work of the assessor this year. When a house owner asks, and by reason of the need of the person who must have a room, gets $10 a week, for a little hall bedroom, there is a distinct smell of profiteering. When a man who has been receiving $25 a month for a small house with no modern conveniences, raises the rent to $50 a month and gets it because of the distress of the family that has come to Janesville and must have a home, he is in the profiteer class, without further debate. It has been done. There is no moral suasion fitted to him. He is past that. Religion and righteousness, golden rules and all the axiomatic principles enunciated from the time of Moses to Bernard Shaw, are wasted on that man. The only way to get back is to tackle him where his life lies—in his pocketbook—and the easiest way and the one quickly available is to raise the property valuation in keeping with the increased income from the rent and let him squeal. We can take his money and let the boys play ball with it. That's the job cut out for the city assessor.

EVANESCENT GREATNESS.

Roger Sullivan, dead in Chicago, represented the power of good organization and leadership which must be first inherent in the man before he can become a boss. Coupling the corporation with politics, Mr. Sullivan achieved a certain niche in the passing news of the day as a force in the democratic party, mostly for the influence on elections. Whatever of greatness he may have achieved out of being merely a boss and serving interests that were private rather than public, will not last. To be a "Boss" in these days is a discredit rather than a credit to a man.

Mr. Sullivan had a clean private life. No man criticised him in his business transactions. He grew as have many other Americans from a small start with poverty as the greatest stimulant. He was big and generous. And he was not a hard boss. That is one reason why he commanded men and attention generally.

NO CALL FOR PERSHING.

Gen. Pershing has definitely stated that he will be willing to serve as president of these United States if he is nominated and elected. A few friends in Nebraska have been boozing him with press sheets and letters to newspapers. It is to be hoped he will not be nominated. There is no public call for him and he represents no idea and no issue.

Gen. Pershing must grow less and less a hero as the years pass and the whole story of the treatment of the American doughboy is told. Senator Lenroot, in the senate a few days ago, called attention to the sending of the raw recruits, just over from the draft, into fighting units as replacement men with consequent heavy death toll. Gen. Pershing will necessarily have to bear the burden of that criticism. If he is to be given all the glory of the things that were accomplished he must also stand the criticism for the errors that resulted in heavy casualty lists. Then, too, there is no such sentiment following the war with Germany as came in the wake of the civil war and made a Grant or a Zachary Taylor after the Mexican war.

Gen. Pershing must stand on his record in the war. It is not exactly clear what that record is, or how far he is responsible for things not accomplished. There is no call for a warrior leader. We have had no military merit in civil life. Gen. Pershing has none. A president who has not also had some record of achieve-

Histories Are Wrong

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, April 15.—The Declaration of Independence wasn't signed July 4, 1776. Abraham Lincoln didn't dash off his famous Gettysburg address on an old envelope as he rode on the train to Gettysburg. Most likely George Washington never chopped down the cherry tree. The Manuscript division of the Library of Congress wrote out the proceedings as usual, but as the day was hot and the declaration long, he left a space in his journal for it instead of copying it. The draft of the important document was rushed to the printer, and next day Lincoln was asked the secretary fastened one in his book with two red wafers. This congressional journal is in the library collection of manuscripts, and the page with the printed declaration pasted on has been photostated.

The original copy of the Declaration of Independence, engraved on parchment, was lost in the fire at the British Museum in 1834. The original manuscript of the Gettysburg Address is in the library collection of manuscripts, and the page with the printed declaration pasted on has been photostated.

The secretaries of the Continental Congress, on their memorable fourth of July, wrote out the proceedings as usual, but as the day was hot and the declaration long, he left a space in his journal for it instead of copying it. The draft of the important document was rushed to the printer, and next day Lincoln was asked the secretary fastened one in his book with two red wafers. This congressional journal is in the library collection of manuscripts, and the page with the printed declaration pasted on has been photostated.

We have had our moments of deep depression when we have longed for fame. That was in our younger days, when we could read fine print and when we were young and strong with a belt without suspenders.

When you grow old and unfamous, as it were, you begin to analyze what makes it tick, and you prove to yourself that fame is not what you were, on the square, you would be famous. You know, right down in your soul, that you are entitled to it. Fame is trickster, and can perform more stunts with a man's career than Howard Thurston can do with a deck of cards and a silk handkerchief.

We once knew some very famous young men. They were in our graduating class. Every time the principal during his remarks began an elaborate description of some young man, we used to think he was the principal himself, and wanted to be named, but the principal invariably named some other member of the class. We left school practically the only unfamous member of our class. One of the most famous young men in our class, however, was not running a stable farm and a sawmill covering Menomonee for a wall paper factory.

When we see what Fame, the sick hussy, has done to some people, we are content. A famous man can make a monkey of himself in one minute and a tortoise succeed in the next. We wanted to be famous for the rest of his life. When you are not famous it is difficult to do this, because nobody pays any attention to what you say or do.

After all is said and done, we would much rather not be famous and, if we could, as though we had no wish. We can have a heck of a time in obscurity. As an east side friend of ours once said of a pal: "Dad guy kin git away wit murder. Nobody knows him."

Fame hardly brings you a return for your investment of time and worry. There was Bismarck, the greatest statesman Germany ever produced, and the one-time idol of the people. All they could think of to do for him was to name a herring after him.

It is told of a certain Long Island suburbanite that he arrived home on the 6:15 the other evening with a package under his arm, the outlines of which created great interest among his fellow passengers. To be sure, he was thought to be historically可靠.

According to the passenger list, he was a collector of manuscripts.

Considering that it represents important phases of our history from the time of Columbus to that of President Johnson, the collection is not small one. It contains only 40 papers, but each specimen was thoughtfully selected as being of special significance or interest to the public. As no original manuscript in the possession of the Library of Congress is ever permitted to leave the building, copies have been made of the exhibit prepared.

Exhibit to Be Sent on Tour.

When the work of arranging the exhibit is completed, it will be displayed for a while in the Congressional library. Later, the Manuscript division hopes to send it on tour of libraries of the country, so that the people in other cities and towns may see exact reproductions of our historical documents and the handwriting of the men and women who wrote them.

Even in the photostat reproductions, the papers may be read by anyone with ordinary ability at deciphering handwriting, that is, with a knowledge of Spanish, French, Latin, and English. However, and antiquated at times, but still unmistakably our national language.

Washington Plain Writer. George Washington's papers are outstanding samples of plain, legible writing, though the fashion of his day called for shaded lines and graceful curves. Quill pens, however, were not in common shaping his own to his taste. Washington always cut his quills so that every stroke of his writing is of the same breadth and color.

The most interesting Washington manuscript perhaps is his reply to a certain major who in 1782 suggested that Washington become king, as the experiment of democracy seemed to be a failure. The first president immediately seized his quill and wrote in his pocket:

"With a mixture of great surprise and astonishment I have read the sentiments you have submitted for my perusal. If you have any regard for your country, concern for yourself or posterity, or respect for me, banish these thoughts from your mind."

Removes All Doubt. To make impossible any future doubt as to his reply to this offer, Washington had his two aides witness the letter.

As the exhibit is to contain only adults are requiring that they be educated

ANSWER TO THE QUESTION.

Millwaukee—A marked increase in the demand for adult education is in the national administration no matter what party is in power until a genuine and properly constructed budget system is in use.—Wausau Record-Herald.

Fond du Lac by reason of passing the 23,000 mark, now proposes to make 35,000 its goal for 1920. As a matter of fact we are confident that before another twelve months shall have passed, the goal set for ten years hence will be 50,000 instead of 35,000 as the former, all things considered, is no more difficult of attaining than the latter.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

"Did you vote the republican ticket?" asked one man of another on Wednesday.

"Republican nothing," came the earnest reply. "I voted La Follette,"—Eau Claire Leader.

Amundsen will take four years' supply of food with him in his dash for the North Pole. And anybody who can find that much food will have no trouble in finding the Pole.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Backward Glimpses

FORTY YEARS AGO

April 15, 1880.—A militia company was organized at Delavan yesterday and about 55 men were mustered in. They will present a fine appearance when they get uniforms and get in form. They elected Frank Goodrich as captain.—Some of the Janesville militia will go to Elgin tomorrow night to attend the reception given by the guards of that city.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 15, 1890.—The big trainload of harvesters, which was sent out by the Geierling company of Chicago, passed through this city yesterday afternoon on its way to the big wheat fields of Minnesota and Dakota. There were thirty-eight cars, decked with bunting.—There was a lively runaway this morning on Milwaukee street. Luckily, no one was hurt.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

April 15, 1900.—Sunday.

TEN YEARS AGO

April 15, 1910.—The taking of the government census was started in this city, and throughout the entire country, and will continue for the next fifteen days.—There was a meeting of the Tennis Club of this city recently, at which the members elected Stowe Lovelot, president; Herbert Holme, vice-president; and Stanley Woodruff, treasurer. They are preparing for a full season.

JINX IS ON TRAIL OF MONROE BARBER, ROBBERS AND ALL

[By Gazette Correspondent] Monroe, April 15.—Bud Luck seems to follow Paul Meyer, the South Jackson street barber, potato and hay dealer. Only recently he had a car containing personal effects worth the value of $1,000 burned out. Oglethorpe, the railroad company now wants to hold him for the value of the car.

Then, Saturday night, he left his barber shop about 11 o'clock and upon his return at 2 o'clock found that he had lost $40 and $50 more stolen from the cash register. The curtain in the shop had been pulled down and a bushel basket of potatoes moved from its accustomed place. The register had been touched, but the robber, or robbers, in their hurry did not take all the cash, several dollars in small change being left.

Another instance of near bad luck was when he dropped the "roll" between Brownstown and Indianapolis last week. He did not discover his loss until reaching this city, and he immediately telephoned to the agent at Brownstown, who found and saved the money for him.

HURRY JUSTICE IS THE HURLY-BURLY OF HURLEY. Hurley—Within 24 hours after he was arraigned in municipal court on charges of robbery, Joseph MacArthur was on his way to the state prison at Waupun to serve 18 months. When arraigned, MacArthur pleaded guilty in order to "get the thing over with," he said.

We once knew some very famous young men. They were in our graduating class. Every time the principal during his remarks began an elaborate description of some young man, we used to think he was the principal himself, and wanted to be named, but the principal invariably named some other member of the class. We left school practically the only unfamous member of our class. One of the most famous young men in our class, however, was not running a stable farm and a sawmill covering Menomonee for a wall paper factory.

When we see what Fame, the sick hussy, has done to some people, we are content. A famous man can make a monkey of himself in one minute and a tortoise succeed in the next. We wanted to be famous for the rest of his life. When you are not famous it is difficult to do this, because nobody pays any attention to what you say or do.

After all is said and done, we would much rather not be famous and, if we could, as though we had no wish. We can have a heck of a time in obscurity. As an east side friend of ours once said of a pal: "Dad guy kin git away wit murder. Nobody knows him."

Fame hardly brings you a return for your investment of time and worry. There was Bismarck, the greatest statesman Germany ever produced, and the one-time idol of the people. All they could think of to do for him was to name a herring after him.

It is told of a certain Long Island suburbanite that he arrived home on the 6:15 the other evening with a package under his arm, the outlines of which created great interest among his fellow passengers. To be sure, he was thought to be historically reliable.

After dinner that evening a delegation called on this gentleman to spend the evening. It was a sort of surprise party. The party had been arranged by the host, who had invited his best friend, a collector of manuscripts.

Other revolutionary manuscripts included in the collection are George Washington's commission as commander-in-chief of the continental army and General Howe's proclamation ordering the people of Boston to leave the city during the British occupation.

EDUCATES

An imbecile is known by his clumsy movements. A weak minded individual is conspicuous by reason of his faulty muscular control; it does not follow, however, that defective individuals always mean mental weakness. Yet exercise is unquestionably essential in the development of the mind.

An infant must have some brain capacity before it can make any intelligent use of physical exercise whatever. It could not use its brain to dig a hole in the ground, to climb a fence, or run a race. A newborn infant's movements are almost wholly relax, involuntary or automatic, like the movements a de-capitated dog will make after being cut off from a hind leg. But with the petition of the higher brain centers for the intelligent control of these movements are developed, and in due time, the infant, without any intentional schooling or teaching, acquires grace and facility of movement, which implies a quick mentality.

A baby learns infinitely more by simple baby exercises than by studying books. A child learns more by playing with playmates, parents or environs visitors than by puzzling over books.

A large part of the brain has no other function than the housing of possible, over various voluntary muscle movements, including the muscles by which a child runs and builds and piles, as well as those by which it speaks.

Writing a letter, speaking a piece, playing piano, riding a race and swimming are all mere variations in the form of exercise and the muscles used. Building with blocks, making pictures, cutting out patterns, all these forms of exercise are taught children in kindergarten and primary school. These simple exercises know better than any one else how intelligent exercise educates. But pedagogues have for generations assumed that these childish exercises were sufficient for the entire education of a boy or girl, and even pedagogues have been encouraged, many of them have actually discouraged, proper

Heart and Home ProblemsBy ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters Stay be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, In Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman and have three small children, aged three, twenty-three years old, and have been married four years. My husband is good to me and will get me anything for my pleasure, but he is not affectionate. He has not kissed me for months. When I try to be loving, he kindles his pipe and says "I do" and tells me to go to bed him.

When my girl friends come he is kind and good to them, but makes nothing of me. Do you think he is in love with some other woman, or is it the matter with him?

I love my husband dearly and would love to have him affectionate to me. Will you please tell me how to make him affectionate?

BUNNY MAN'S WIFE.

You can judge your husband's loyalty to you by the amount of time he spends at home and the interest he shows in you. There are many nice men who cease to be affectionate after marriage, but who are loyal to their families and love no other woman.

It is a rather hopeless situation if your husband is neither not affectionate. After all, he is born in people. You must forgive over that which has been denied you. You have much for which to be thankful, since your husband is good to you and will get you anything for your pleasure.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I correspond with a boy away from our home town, but do not care for him except as a friend and talk to him. He feels the same towards me. I write him because I get someone sometimes. Do you think it all right to correspond with him?

A GIRL.

Yes, the correspondence is all right. It is not necessary to love in order to correspond.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of nineteen and have been in love with a young man for some time. He always said he loved me. We were engaged and quit and when he came back he did not say any more about marriage. He says he still loves me and I love him.

He talks to other girls and I don't like him at all. I speak of boys and he says nothing to me at all.

We got along all right until Sunday night. He got angry with me for something I said which I did not mean. I tried to make him believe I did not say it, but he would not and said he would not forgive me.

What shall I do? I don't want another boy's company—only his. Please help me.

P. R. V.

Fear filled your heart when you saw the man was angry. Then you tried to talk to him, but he would not let you keep him. Surprise him now and do not show in any way that you care because he has dropped you. Your indifference will not flatter him and there is a chance that he will take a new interest in you.

Your trials and tribulations are simply a phase of your life. In a year or two this young man will meet on a snare basis. The same trifles will not excite anger and you will be much happier together. Love cannot stand the strain of much wrangling.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am in my

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

BY MARY PHILLIPS

"If women object to political machines, the thing for them to do is to go out and fight these machines." This is the advice given by Miss Mabel Choate, who made a spirited campaign in the Seventeenth congressional district of New York state, asking the voters to send her to the republican convention in Chicago as a delegate. Miss Choate is the daughter of the late Joseph Choate, who was one of the most distinguished orators of his day, and whose wife was too busy to go out and work for things they want; not to sit back and think that when they have obtained the power to vote they have done all that is needed.

Although Miss Choate lost her seat, she played among the lobbies of the convention, and a healthy boy or girl naturally detects and which only the abnormal or freakish child can absorb and retain long enough to "pass."

A good teacher is one who makes the child remember, not by Chinese repetition, but by impression of the fact through other channels than sight or hearing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Tamping Down Breakfast.

I walk from my home to the plant where I work, which takes about five minutes, at a brisk pace, every morning right after breakfast. I would appreciate your opinion as to whether this is a wise course in the interest of my health.

ANSWER.—It is a very wholesome habit, in every way. It provides a heavy meal that it is advisable for many people at least, to rest a while.

Please send me the names of books for girls twelve to fourteen years of age, and where I can obtain them, as I need such help in continuing to my studies.

ANSWER.—Helpful books or pamphlets with which I happen to be familiar are: "The Girls' Book of Home Problems" for girls 12 to 14, and "Life Problems" for girls 14 to 18, obtainable for twenty cents per copy.

Yes, I think it is all right for a divorced person to remarry. Care should be taken not to make a second mistake.

THE EUROPEAN TRIP APPROPRIATE.

British cousins across the pond can show us about life or—or—anything worth while anyhow. They only think they can.

I know that my manners will not compare to theirs. That is understood, but I am not sure as long as she can bear the separation from Jeffry—which I fear will not be long. We sail for South Hampton, and go direct to London. It's too good to be true!

Cecil assures me that London will surprise me, but I suspect that a perfect paragon, Cecil's sisters, all about my own age, and so many of them, will turn pink with consternation and envy. We shall be quite a talking point.

I feel sure that when I meet those British girls, they will be surprised at my own age, and so many of them, will turn pink with consternation and envy. We shall be quite a talking point.

The one that Cecil thinks I shall like best is Gwendoline. She is the favorite, and the best chum in the world. She goes to her with all his troubles, and she mends his undergarments, with a passion for politeness on all occasions.

They would bore our men to death after the first two months, which is something that our girls never do, no matter what other shortcomings we may have.

We do not sing, neither do we do any embroidery, and we are not good at carding, spinning or weaving.

However, I shall do my Yankee best to be a lady, and original to all these little peccadilloes, be sure of that.

As for British men, Well, I shall probably spend my time in being grateful to the fates that gave unto me an American roughneck for a fiance. A dear, adorable, kind-hearted and adoring Jack, who loves my lightest "gaggy," and understand my peculiar disposition to a T.

"Crazy," he repeated with conviction.

"I could only shrug—all I've ever been able to do; that was her incomparable belief! I wasted no more time on it then, for our question was what to do next, and I went on to tell him how I'd decided to take his advice and lay the matter before the president.

To my astonishment, instead of the whole recommendation I'd expected from Billy at taking the advice he'd urged on both my duty and common sense not forty-eight hours before, and remember, I barely restrained him from rushing off on the midnight train, he stopped out of his chair and began coolly pacifying the other. His first words were, "Why, you can't do that!"

"Oh, I see all the risks I'm running of getting there alive."

"Risks?" he echoed, as if he hadn't given them a thought. "But how much are you going to tell about this affair?"

"Everything, of course—I mean everything I know. The government will have to undertake to find out the rest."

He plunked himself in front of me and demanded, "You aren't going to let Miss de Ravenel get dragged into a mess like this, are you?"

I didn't answer immediately, and he said, "Well, I'll ask you—are you going to do it? Are you going to be a party to such a—such an outrage?"

"If I don't put the case to the president what I do? Here I am saddled with the diamonds."

"Well, I'll keep it to myself."

He briefly offered as his solution of the difficulty, "Keep them—put them in the safe deposit—and let things take their course."

For a minute I was really angry, and rapped out, "If I thought you were setting Billy up, I'd vote to let him go to the house. Your suggestion is that I frankly become a thief, and your solution is not only criminal but—idiotic. What would it accomplish?—with so many people knowing?"

"Well—say—promise me one thing," he pleaded. "You'll wait until you try to see the president today—you won't tell the rest without telling me you're going."

I was willing to grant this and suggested that he go down to the hotel

WHEN A MAN'S MARRIED

BILLY WHISKERS

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XVI.

A New Visitor.

A pretty kettle of fish! It had made up my mind to let the case before the court, but then—as Billy said—ruin a young girl's life! If I told anything I'd have to tell all.

George rang. He was apologetic, but had the offish air of having received compensation for my scolding.

"Why, that gentlewoman downstairs, she says—so soon as I tell him you ain't home, she says ain't you in, or is you out?"

"I told you positively that I was not at home."

"Well, I told him that—that's why we ask not you not at home; is you not? And it says for me to go up again with this—here—" and he thrust a sealed envelope into my hand through the crack of the door, which was still on the chain-bolt.

Mechanically—as people will do those things without thinking of the possible consequences—I tore open the封口 and read:

"Mademoiselle de Ravenel has disappeared."

That was all—no signature or anything—and the paper looked like a leaf torn from a notebook and hastily scribbled on it.

It was made an examination and was in the very act of telling George to bring the man up at once, when the queerest feeling came over me—inhibition, warning, whatever you choose to name it—feeling of danger and fear. It was with the decision to call a plant for me. It was George who recalled me to my senses by asking, "Shall I fetch him up?"

"No—certainly not. You're already told him I'm not at home."

"Well, he says—if you're not in to fetch him, the letter to him, an' when I don't fetch it back he asks me, ain't you in, an' if you ain't in where's the letter?"

True—and aptly argued!

"Why didn't you tell me that in the first place?" I demanded, wondering at my own stupidity, that I hadn't seen it myself in the first place.

"I ain't think of it," said George suddenly.

"Oh, well—it doesn't matter anyway," I soothed. "Just tell him again I'm not at home, an' if he says anything more—just let me—repeating it till he goes, for I don't see him." But, George—"this I said sternly—"if you bring that man up—after what I've said to you you needn't say good morning to me next Sunday!"

George understood the allusion—I always give him a letter on Sunday morning when he brings the paper up." He grinned and departed.

The Corner Stone of Success is the Determination to Save

Make it an absolute principle of life—second only to genuine worthiness—to keep a fixed part of your income—whatever it may be working.

Strive to be worthy of prosperity, guard carefully your earnings, regularly and systematically, put some of it to work. It's the NOW that counts—there will come a day when your investments should take the place of hands that can no longer toil.

Look ahead—start now.

Four Months of Ball With Fairies, Samson Schedule

Four months of stiff competition with the Beloit Fairies will top the drawing cards of the Samson Tractor baseball nine, according to the tentative schedule given out today by George Perring, manager. The first of the ball will come on June 19 and 20 and will be played on the fair grounds diamond here.

The series will string out through July, August and September with swaps in playing days so that one team will play at home on Saturday and away on Sunday. Already, Beloit has hinted at a shaky feeling when they have seen the dope on the Samsonians as it appears on paper. They are not quite so closely made that the Tractor boys make.

STRONG SCHEDULING.

Perring has arranged a bunch of contests to stave his men in the face as a hand and stiff schedule.

The games announced predict a great season for the fans of Janesville and the large number of people from surrounding towns who will come up to see the baseball. A large percentage of the matches will be played at home, thanks to the consideration shown the people of the Bower city by Samson.

Tonight the Baptists will play the United Brethren.

AGRICULTURAL AGENT

JOB GOES BEGGING

Stevens Point—The job of county agricultural agent in Portage county is going begging. The Portage County Agricultural Committee is willing to pay $3,000 and expenses to the right man. James Lacey, now agent of Green Lake county, who was elected and accepted, has now declined, his salary having been raised to the same amount. He has been here less than two months since Dan F. Hughes, principal of the Dunn county training school at Menomonie, turned the job down after accepting it for the same reason.

The executive branch of the government again could not bring in its cost of living and the cost of living. Indeed, congress says the executive departments can cut the cost of living if they will but enforce the laws on the statute books.

So between a republican congress and a democratic administration, little has happened though labor leaders have been repeatedly giving warning of such a rebellion as has occurred. The big question now is whether the two hostile branches of the government will be able to play any longer their political games in the face of a nationwide industrial crisis.
